STATE HEALTH INSPECTOR EXPLAINS CONDITIONS HERE.

Appears Suddenly in City and Makes Rounds of Butcher Shops and and Slaughter Houses.

MUST KEEP PLACES CLEANER

General Condition Found to Be Good But Notices Will Be Sent Owners to Be More Careful in Regard to Odors.

Slaughter houses and butcher shops were yesterday given considerable attention by Inspector Munce of the State Health Department. He arrived rather unexpectedly yesterday afternoon and hunted up Health Officer Alva Hyatt and immediately began a tour of the town butcher shops and also looked over several slaughter houses.

He stated to the Health Officer that the conditions in and about the butcher shops were not really bad, but they could be greatly improved upon to come within the meaning of the Health Laws. The slaughter houses were not as well kept as they should be, he stated and directed that notices be sent to the slaughter men to keep their establishments in more perfect condition.

In the butcher shops the inspector found that there was considerable disregard in keeping cuttings about the place, and that there was too much meat exposed during the hot weather. Many flies in the shops were also noticed and one shop prepared meat upon the counter whereon many flies had gathered. The meats he found generally to be of a good quality, although the handling of it was by no means as careful and as cleanly as it should be.

The inspector in the short time that he was in town was unable to make an inspection of all the shops and slaughter houses, but he directed Officer Hyatt to send out notices directing the owners to take better care of their meats in preparing them for the public and to eliminate the odors of the butcher shops, several of which he found not only were foul on the interior, but the odor pervaded the street in front of the establishment.

Inspector Munce on behalf of the State Department complimented the town on its excellent record in the past. During the past month there has only been one case of contagious disease, that of measles, reported to the State Board and this was deemed by Dr. Dixon and his officials as a splendid record.

The inspector left for Harrisburg last evening, but expects to make another trip to Connellville in the very near future.

HEAD OF ELK LODGE VISITS UNIONTOWN.

Grand Exalted Ruler Being Entertained by Members of Order at County Seat.

UNIONTOWN, July 1.—John K. Tener, Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will arrive here this afternoon to visit the local lodge and will be tendered a continuous round of entertainment in charge of the afternoon Pennsylvania train and escorted from there to Cycle park where the ball game between Uniontown and Fairmont will be witnessed.

After the game the party will go to the Stone House in the mountains for dinner. The return to town will be made in time for the opening session of the lodge, which will be attended by Mr. Tener. The social session will follow the regular meeting, at which District Deputy Woodruff M. Carr will act as toastmaster. The committee in charge of the event is M. A. Kiefer, Tom Bulger, R. W. Austin, Springer Todd and Harry Benson.

PREMATURE CELEBRATION.

Match Dropped Among Fireworks Sets Them Off Ahead of Schedule.

UNIONTOWN, July 1.—Andy Sonak walked into Mike Glanadus' store in the McCormick addition yesterday afternoon and while examining Fourth of July explosives carelessly dropped a match into the pile. A premature celebration occurred and it was with difficulty that the store was saved from destruction by neighbors.

Democrats to Meet July 22.

HARRISBURG, July 1.—The Democratic State Committee was yesterday called to meet in this city on July 22 for the election of a State Chairman and of seven division chairmen. The meeting will be the first under the new rules prescribing election in July.

TO CHANGE MEETING PLACE.

Lawyers' Annual Picnic Will Be Held at Washington Springs.

UNIONTOWN, July 1.—The committee in charge of the Lawyers' Annual Picnic met yesterday afternoon and decided to hold the picnic at the Haddon-Brown place, at Washington Springs, instead of at Cochrans Springs where former frolics have been held. Accommodations at Cochrans Springs in the event of a storm are inadequate and the change was made for this reason.

COURT TO DETERMINE CUSTODY OF CHILD.

Petition for Divorce and for Changing of Road From Masontown to Filed.

UNIONTOWN, July 1.—On application of David Nickler a writ of habeas corpus was granted to determine the custody of an illegitimate child of his place, which was born as Myrtle Nickler, now three years old. Nickler sets forth in his petition, presented by McDonald & Gray, that the child had been in his custody at the request of the mother. Some months ago the mother married Frank Nicholson and the couple now reside in Springfield township. May last Nickler alleges Mrs. Nicholson enticed the child away and he now alleges that the mother is not furnishing the child with a good home and that she is not a woman of good reputation.

Horvey P. Cross was granted a divorce from his wife, Julia Cross yesterday afternoon. The couple were married in the Salvation Army barracks here January 15, 1906, and the divorce alleged occurred May 21, 1908.

The husband accused the wife of soliciting charges and that she had contracted a loathsome disease. He was materially substantiated by other witnesses.

Residents of Nicholson township in the vicinity of Masontown and Gray's Landing petitioned the court yesterday for a change in the public road leading from Masontown to field. The route is a round about one besides it is extremely dangerous, as it leads down a steep hill with a steep embankment along its entire length, winding up with a crossing at a curve on the Monongahela railroad and the yards of the Bessemer Coke Company.

The petitioners desire a more direct route from Gray's Landing from which point the road is a good one. The petition was ordered filed.

Almost eight months after the will was left with the Register and Recorder, all requirements were yesterday met and the document was recorded. This was in the estate of John H. Roushburg, who died in Dunbar township November 17, 1907. The estate is valued at $55 in personal property and $390 in real estate and is left to the widow, Mary Roushburg, during her lifetime. At her death the estate goes to the youngest son, John. The two beneficiaries were all minors at the time of the testator's death. The will is named as executrix. The will is dated May 3, 1907, and is witnessed by Joseph Crop and J. J. Barnhart.

COUNCILMAN'S COW IS RELEASED FROM JAIL.

Animal Was Penned for Devouring the Landscape Off the Hog's Addition.

Very demurely Councilman James B. Millard held down $2 last evening to get his cow out of prison. It is the first time a Councilman's cow has been caught fracturing the Borough Ordinances besides being away from home and causing the family considerable uneasiness.

The animal was caught in the Hog's Addition "eating trees" as the officers charged and penned up. Mr. Millard did not know where his cow was until he read The Courier last evening and then he promptly responded with a donation. The cow was penned, but someone evidently left the gate open and she strolled out to take a look over town.

Well Known Railroad Man Dead.

LAKE PLACID, July 1.—(Special.) George H. Daniels, for many years with the New York Central railroad as general passenger agent, died here today.

The Weather. Showers and cooler tonight. Thursday fair, is the indication at noon.

SALESMAN IN RUNAWAY.

Was Hurtled from Vehicle in Uniontown and is at Hospital.

UNIONTOWN, July 1.—Hugo Freudenshiel, a New York salesman, is in the hospital here suffering from a bad scalp wound, dislocation of the right elbow and a fracture of the right arm, as the result of a runaway accident at Masontown yesterday afternoon.

The salesman in company with Harry Stillwell was driving along Main street in Uniontown when the team became frightened at an automobile and ran away. The wheel struck a big rock and was smashed to pieces. The men were thrown from the rig, but Stillwell only suffered slight bruises. Freudenshiel's injuries are not considered serious.

AFTER PRISONERS IN OTHER STATES.

Extradition Papers Sent for Two for Assault and Another is Expected for Embezzlement.

UNIONTOWN, July 1.—District Attorney David Henderson this morning forwarded the necessary papers to secure the return of two fugitives from justice. One set of papers was sent to Governor William O. Dawson of West Virginia, by which is sought to return to Fayette county of Ala. Townsend, accused of assault on Little Norm Swink of Continental and general other small girls of that neighborhood. Townsend is now in the Wheeling Jail.

The other papers were sent to Governor Swanson of Virginia, asking for the return of George Wilson, wanted for a criminal assault against Little Johnson of Dunbar. The girl is but 13 years old and is now living with her intent at Dunbar. The assault was committed last fall and the officers have been seeking him ever since.

Another fugitive which the Fayette county officers expect to have returned in time for the September term is Daniel H. Pearsall, who is wanted in connection with embezzlement charges growing out of his operation in the formation of the Borehead Coal Company. In case he is extradited from New York there will be three prisoners to be tried who have been caught in other states.

CHERUBS WILL BE TODAY'S ATTRACTION.

Clarksburg Makes Debut of Season Here Tomorrow and Good Game is Anticipated.

The Charloter Cherubs will again be the attraction at the baseball park this afternoon and unless all signs fall a warm game is to be looked for. Failure to field up to the standard was the cause of the loss yesterday. Connellville earned both of their runs while the Rats pushed three over on errors. Either Cannon or Blanchard will be on the mound this afternoon for the locals. Both are numbered among the best in the league and they seem to inflex finger into the players.

Clarksburg, the Dawsons family and Fred Drumm will make their initial appearance here tomorrow. The Bioguis were scheduled here earlier in the season but rain, illness and other reasons prevented a meeting of the two teams. Clarksburg has had a rest of three days and will be in great shape. They are sending word to the leaders and a few games dropped by the Orioles would suit the West Virginia team into first place. The first game tomorrow will begin at 2:15. Either Cannon, Blanchard or Wallace will pitch for the locals. Mitchell, Charloter and the local players are in town and will report against the Cokers this afternoon.

SHOPS TO GO ON FULL TIME.

B. & C. Workmen Busy Repairing Large Number Damaged Cars. Orders were issued this morning to place the Baltimore and Ohio shops on full time, and hereby the entire force were sent to work, but it is believed that the force will be continued at work throughout the month. At the present time the yards are full of cars to be repaired and an effort will be made to get as many of these cars in shape for the road as possible within the next few days. The work will be carried along as far into the month as the appropriation will reach, when it is believed that the retrenchment policy will again go into effect.

Coal Company Gets Damages.

SOMERSET, July 1.—Judge Morris, in the United States Circuit Court at Baltimore, has made a decree in the case of the Maryland Coal & Coke Company of Baltimore against the Queensharing Coal Company of Somerset, giving the Queensharing Company judgment for $3,000 damages for failure of the Maryland Coal & Coke Company to fulfill a contract with the Queensharing company for 30,000 tons of coal to be delivered in equal monthly shipments during 1905.

RAILROAD RATE WAR IS NOW ON.

B. & O. Announces Cheapest Fare on Record to New York.

AFTER THE WESTERN TRAFFIC.

Expected to Divert Many from Competitive Lines Which Are Also Preparing to Cut Tariffs—May Effect the Entire System.

A rate war began in earnest this morning to New York when the Baltimore & Ohio railroad announced a reduction in its fare and offering its best trains to carry passengers to the metropolis for $9 from Connellville. This is the cheapest rate offered by the company on record and it is believed that it will be taken advantage of by many parties desiring to visit New York City. The new rate does not allow of a stopover in Washington or Baltimore, and in order to secure this privilege it will be necessary to pay the old rate of $10.50. There has previously been a rate of $9 from Connellville for the Delaware and Potomac Railroad, but this was made especially for the handling of foreign traffic. It was impossible to secure the rate from Connellville and a berth upon the train.

The rate war extends all over the Baltimore & Ohio system and it is believed to have been the result of the Western road in diverting their Eastern first-class business via Buffalo, the Baltimore & Ohio thereby losing its very best and highest class traffic. Several accommodations have been actually made to handle the immense number of passengers who come out of the West each year to purchase their fall and winter supplies, and the diverting of this traffic in another direction where the Baltimore & Ohio would not receive any portion of the trade evidently aroused the officials to action.

Clarksburg has also had a better rate to New York than Connellville, which was not deemed a competitive point. The Pittsburg rate has been $9, and frequently Connellville passengers have had tickets purchased in Pittsburg for an eastern trip, but it is taking a chance on cutting a Pullman to do this, and when Connellville people travel they like to have the best, and day coaches for hundreds of miles do not appeal to them strongly even with the savings. It is believed that some other cut will be made, and that the rate will probably be offered in addition to the excursion rates to the seashore.

C. A. TOWNE WANTS
VICE PRESIDENCY.

Says He Is Sure to Be Running Mate of Bryan on Democratic Ticket.

LINCOLN, Neb., July 1.—(Special.) Charles A. Towne of New York is frankly after the nomination as Bryan's running mate, and is dead sure he will get it.

"I'm a candidate for nomination," he said today, "and I shall be nominated. In the end I believe I am strong; in the West everyone knows my strength." Towne arrived today to confer with Bryan and it is said he believed he could "fix it up" to get the nomination.

MANY ATTEND CARNIVAL.

Concerts of Band in Connellville Draws Crowds to New Haven.

Paying their respects to the newspaper offices and other public places in Connellville yesterday afternoon the band connected with the carnival was in progress in New Haven after many people from this city across the Yough last evening to the location where the attractions are exhibiting under the auspices of the New Haven fair.

The band was a large number who attended to carnival last night and the first concert of the evening. Confetti was thrown in evidence and was sprinkled with a lavish hand. The lights and music, the hum of the night and the "barbers" extolling the merits of the respective patronages, all went to give the little town across the river new life. The attractions were all patronized, the free performance appreciated and the crowd appeared to enjoy itself to the limit.

LIBRARY CIRCULATION GROWS.

Report for June Shows Big Increase Over Last Year.

The report for the month of June shows a circulation of 3,025, an increase of 655 over the month of June, 1907. Of this number 994 were children's books, 11 magazines circulated. The total accessions now number 6,466.

During the month there were 35 new registrations, 12 of them being children, 1 temporary resident, and one non-resident. 443 persons used the reference room and 363 the periodical room. One book book borrowed from the Carnegie Library at Pittsburg 457 books were mended.

LONDON WOMEN IN CLASH WITH POLICE.

Suffragettes Set Upon Officers to Rescue Prisoners—Mob Surrounds House of Commons.

LONDON, July 1.—(Special.)—One thousand suffragettes gathered to madness by the action of the police today attempted to rescue 28 or 29 of their number who were arrested during last night's unprecedented demonstration in Parliament Square. The prisoners were being taken to prison when the mob of enraged women "rushed" the police and just as it was leaving the court yard.

Expecting an attack hundreds of police hid behind the court yard, pushing to the van and succeeded in beating back the women. In court the prisoners were given an option of being placed under peace bonds or going to prison for from one to three months. But one woman agreed to give bond, the others preferring the martyr role.

As an aftermath to last night's demonstration 5,000 extra policemen were called out today to guard against the mobs of women patrolling the streets. At almost every corner women speakers harangued the crowds and assaulted Premier Asquith for his refusal to receive a deputation that called upon him yesterday. Mrs. Pankhurst, one of those who sought an audience with the Premier was particularly bitter in her denunciation and her arrest followed. Then for nearly four hours the vast army besieged the House of Commons and clamored to be received by the Speaker. While the demonstration was at its height the demonstrators were at its height and the demonstrators were at its height.

COULD NOT AGREE UPON DAMAGES.

Viewers Fail to Fix Charges in Contention Proceedings for Penny.

GREENSBURG, July 1.—Over the hills from Donohoe to Peatty Monday morning a number of attorneys and six prominent residents of Fayette county, the latter having been appointed by the county judges, were assembled to ascertain the amount of the damages caused by the Title and Hamilton farms by reason of the construction of a right of way through the farms, made by the Pennsylvania railroad at the time of the improvements to its line. At the time of the improvements the company had furnished homes, guaranteeing the payment of damages which might be assessed.

The viewers spent several hours in going over the farms. They finally decided to award the Hamiltons $210 for each acre taken by the company, and this award proved satisfactory to the owners of the farm. About four acres were taken, and of which were located about one mile of the farm, and the resulting damages were thus fixed at a total of $840.

No agreement was reached concerning the damages in this case, and the viewers held a meeting at Greensburg Tuesday for the purpose of receiving testimony as to the amount of damages.

REFUSES TO PAY FOR SAVING HIS HORSE.

Peculiar Case Heard by Magistrate Clark Involving Agreement and Animal.

John Keyser of Broad Fork had a sick horse. It was about "old" as John says and the opinion of Dr. P. N. Sherrett coincided with his view. The doctor told him the best he could do was to take it out somewhere and shoot it, but Keyser has become attached to the horse and did not like to perform the job. Instead of doing that he called Mark Reutsky a neighbor in and made a bargain with him. He told him that if he would take the horse and care for it he could have it if it recovered and paid the doctor's bill. It didn't recover Reutsky agreed to pay the bill.

Soon after Reutsky set the horse to work and in a short time it had recovered and the new owner used it plowing. Dr. Sherrett presented Keyser a bill of $11 for treatment and he asked Reutsky to pay it according to an agreement. The latter told him he had agreed to pay for only two visits of the doctor, $5 in all and would pay no more.

Keyser then sued him for $11, alleging that he had not lived up to the terms of the old agreement. Reutsky stated to the plaintiff that a man had offered him $50 for the horse in the field and that if Keyser would give him $100 and pay the doctor's bill he could have him again. Keyser originally paid $170 for the horse and he refused to buy him again, but insisted that Reutsky pay the doctor's bill. Magistrate W. P. Clark heard the case and decided in favor of Reutsky and held his decision until July 6. Attorney B. C. Higbee appeared for the defendant.

WIDOWS AND SOLDIERS GET INCREASED PAY.

Holiday to Be Gladsome Event to Many on Account of Uniform Pensions.

Fourth of July to the widows and soldiers will be a doubly happy one from the fact that on that day the widows who have been receiving less than $12 per month will get their first pay under the new Act providing that all widows shall receive a uniform pension of $12 per month.

Congressman Allen P. Cooper was largely instrumental in having Congress pass the measure, and as a result of it hundreds of widows in Fayette county as well as all over the United States will profit by it. The Fourth of July marks the regular time for the signing of pension papers, which may be done on this date, and not earlier, or any time after that date. Magistrate W. P. Clark was planning a trip to Pittsburg, but as many old soldiers who are anxious to get their money on that day have appealed to him to stay in his office, he will defer his holiday. Magistrate Frank Miller will also help his comrades along by being present to sign their vouchers.

MONTHLY HOSPITAL REPORT.

Miss Catherine Zeller, superintendent of the Cottage State hospital, this morning gave out the following report for the month of June: Number of patients at the beginning of the month, 15; number of patients discharged, 16; number of deaths, 3; number of patients remaining; 16; patients treated, 17; return visits paid, 19.

STOLEN HORSES RECOVERED.

NEW SALEM, July 1.—Constable William Briscoe received word that a horse with three others stolen a few nights ago had been located at Reno, but there is no trace of the thieves.

FLAG DISPLAY IS REQUESTED.

Pistols and Torpedo Cakes Will be Banned From Noise-Making Devices. Call of the Cannon Cracker Responded to All Over County.

Burgess A. D. Solson (this morning) asking for a safe and sane as well as a reasonable holiday. The danger from the reckless handling and exploding of fireworks upon the streets of the town is particularly set forth, and the hours during which these explosives may be used is stated from 12 o'clock noon Friday, July 3, until 12 o'clock midnight July 4. Burgess Solson thinks this is a ample time in which to celebrate. The proclamation, published on another page, sets forth the ruling in full.

Dealers this year are displaying but few noise-making or illuminating devices. The law does not permit the use of pistols or cannons, and all fireworks containing dynamite or dangerous explosives have been eliminated. Dealers are responsible for any device containing dynamite or gun cotton and are not selling them, although it is believed that a few will find their way into the hands of the small boy and his celebration of the day.

The most popular selling article this year is the "Sons of Guns," a cracker arrangement to be spread on the pavement and when one is exploded the racket goes up until everything in the neighborhood has exploded. "The Electric Torch," a wire arrangement is another good seller and is harmless except where it may be whisked to near the face and the wire strikes the flesh. The "Will O the Whisp" and the "Snake's Head" are other funny things to amuse the children and cause the big red fire cracker is best of all and thousands of them have been distributed throughout Fayette county.

The call for the cannon cracker is greater this year than ever before and the fancy pieces are suffering thereby. The sh. rocket has not been such a good seller, because it is so unreliable and doesn't make very much noise and this Fourth of July it is believed that the big boy and the little man will want all they can get for their money.

VANDERBILT MUST BE CAREFUL ON FOURTH

Burgess Newmeyer Issues Proclamation Governing Explosives and Sounds Warning About Dogs.

VANDERBILT, Pa., July 1.—Burgess Newmeyer of this place has issued the following proclamation: "Just such as the glorious Fourth of July is near at hand, a day when the American people are wont to celebrate their birthday of independence, we would impress upon every citizen that while thus celebrating the day, the most careful of the danger that lies in the deadly and explosive firecracker. We therefore warn all that if any person shall, within the limits of this borough, fire off any squibs, fire balls, firecrackers, rockets or any other igneous material except from noon Friday until noon Saturday, shall be dealt with according to law."

Another matter to which he calls the attention of the citizens is the dog law, which states that all dogs running at large from July 1 to September 15 without a muzzle shall be killed.

VORYS NOT THE MAN.

Burton, After Conference
With Taft, Says Another
Will Be Chosen.

OHIO SITUATION IS CONSIDERED

Secretary Taft's Last Day as Head of War Department Full of Work and Worry—Cheerfully Lay Aside His Official Cares.

Washington, July 1.—"I'm in process of sloughing off my official robes."

This was the laconic description of his condition given by Secretary William H. Taft last night as he sat in his private office at the war department. He had been working like a slave during the day in the disposition of more or less important department business. Throughout the day he was in discussion with Governor Wright who today succeeds him as executive head of the war department and with bureau chiefs of the department. Several important matters respecting the election situation in Panama, the Panama canal, the situation in Cuba and administrative details of the war department proper were gone over.

The only real political conference he had during the day was with Representative Theodore E. Burton of Cleveland, who presented Mr. Taft's name to the Chicago convention for the presidency. Mr. Burton discussed with the secretary the details of the convention and the political situation as it has developed since the convention adjourned. They devoted particular attention to the political conditions in Ohio. Mr. Taft's native state, concerning which he is especially solicitous at the conclusion of the conference. Mr. Burton said that a number of questions were considered by Mr. Taft and himself concerning which he could not talk.

Vorys Not to Be Chairman

"Mr. Vorys, who has been mentioned in connection with the national chairmanship of the Republican party, will be identified probably with the approaching national campaign in an important capacity but as the situation is today he will not be the chairman of the committee. I have no information at this time on the national chairmanship of the Republican party. I am quite certain, however, that all of the wrinkles which now seem to exist will be smoothed out in a few days."

Commenting upon his interview with Mr. Burton, Secretary Taft said diplomatically: "We considered the state of the whole union but a little political touch was given the whole interview, I will admit."

It developed from the talk with Secretary Taft that Mr. Burton may go to Hot Springs for a brief sojourn about the time Secretary Taft and his family arrive there. The secretary said that he and Mrs. Taft and their son Charles would leave Washington next Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock for Hot Springs on a special car over the Chesapeake and Ohio railway. He also announced that he had sent out notices to the members of the subcommittee of the national committee to request them to meet him at Hot Springs on July 8 to discuss the chairmanship of the Republican party. The secretary said he was then fully informed that he could count on the support of the committee.

Pleasant of Work Ahead

"I shall have plenty to occupy me this week," Secretary Taft said. "I shall have plenty to occupy me this week. I am looking forward to the work ahead of me. I am looking forward to the work ahead of me. I am looking forward to the work ahead of me."

For Calling Strike Despite Injunction
Issued by Judge

Chicago, July 1.—John J. Beltrami, George H. Lacey and Charles G. Gray, labor leaders, were today committed to jail for violation of an injunction against the calling of strikes on build and construction. The injunction was issued by Judge Carpenter on behalf of the American Lumber Company. A similar penalty had been imposed on the defendants on June 15 for violation of the injunction. The defendants did not know of the existence of the injunction when the strike was called.

M'CLELLAN'S TITLE CLEAR

Judge Declares He Was Legally Elected Mayor of New York

New York, July 1.—Mayor George B. McClellan's title to the office of mayor of New York city was made clear by a decision of Justice Lambert in the supreme court when he ordered a jury to render a verdict that McClellan was duly elected mayor in 1905. W. R. Hearst was being contested for the office since the election and as a result of his charges of fraud in the original count of the election, the legislature passed a law enabling a recount. Attorney General Jackson then instituted quo warranto proceedings on behalf of the people, in which both Mr. Hearst and Mayor McClellan were named as defendants.

The recount was ordered by Justice Lambert with a plurality of 2965, whereupon Clarence J. Shearn, representing Mr. McClellan, alleged that the ballot boxes had been stuffed and requested the court to throw out the entire vote of 112 election districts in which he charged that the ballots found in the boxes exceeded the number of registered voters. This, however, was based on an incorrect list of voters and when the correct list was produced Mr. Shearn said that the registration was greater than the poll in every district. The court then ordered a recount of the ballots found in the boxes. The court then ordered a recount of the ballots found in the boxes.

BIG BODY, FEEBLE MIND

Boy Murderer Transferred From Pen to Reform School.

Columbus, O., July 1.—After six years imprisonment in the Ohio penitentiary, Danny Rosenbecker, the youngest prisoner ever behind the walls of the penitentiary, has been transferred to the Mansfield reformatory on approval of Governor Harris. Rosenbecker was received at the penitentiary at the age of twelve to serve a term of twenty years for manslaughter. He was sent up from Toledo.

His crime committed in 1902 shocked the whole country. The boy murdered a younger companion and mutilated him with a knife even cutting out his tongue. Hiding the corpse in a brush pile, Rosenbecker claimed when the body was found that a dog had killed it.

Since he has been in the penitentiary, Rosenbecker has grown to be a fine tall but his mind has not grown with his body.

SHIRLEY LEARNED A SECRET
SHIRLEY CLAIBORNE was dressed for a ride and while waiting for her horse she read her brother's letter and the postscript which follows:

"I shall never live down my acquaintance with the detective Amittage. My brother officers insist on rubbing it in. I even hear now and then that you have gone into retreat by reason of the exposure. I'll admit for your consolation that he really took me in and further I really wonder who the devil he is or was! Our last interview at the club after Chauvenet told his story lingers with me disagreeably. I was naturally pretty hot to find him playing the ducky mysterious watch never did go with me after ending my bird and striking my bottle. As a precaution I have looked up Chauvenet to the best of my ability. At the Austro-Hungarian embassy they speak well of him. He's ever here to collect the price of a few cruicars or some such rubbish from one of our sister republics below the Gulf. But had luck to all foreigners! He for America every time!"

"Dear old Dick!" And she dropped the letter into a drawer and went out into the sunshine, mounted her horse and turned toward the hills.

She and spent the intermediate seasons of the year at Storm Springs ever since she could remember and had climbed the surrounding hills and dipped into the valleys with a boy's zest and freedom.

The Virginia mountains were thick in her mind to the dreams of her youth to her heart's throb and aspirations and to the books she had read, and she galloped happily out of the valley to the tune of an old ballad. She rode as a woman should, astride her horse and not madly clinging to it in the precarious ancient fashion. She had known horses from early years in which she had tumbled from her pony's back in the stable yard, and she knew how to train a horse to a gait and how to master a beast's fear and even some of the tricks of the trooper in the Port Myer drill she had surreptitiously practiced in the meadow back of the Claiborne stables.

It was on Tuesday that John Amittage had appeared before her in the pergola. It was now Thursday afternoon, and Chauvenet had been to see her twice since, and she had met him the night before at a dance at one of the cottages.

Once free of the settlement she rode far and fast until she was quite beyond the usual routes of the Springs excursionists, then in mountain by ways she enjoyed the luxury of leisure and dismounted now and then to delight in the green of the laurel and question the greed of the trooper in the Port Myer drill she had surreptitiously practiced in the meadow back of the Claiborne stables.

It was on Tuesday that John Amittage had appeared before her in the pergola. It was now Thursday afternoon, and Chauvenet had been to see her twice since, and she had met him the night before at a dance at one of the cottages.

Once free of the settlement she rode far and fast until she was quite beyond the usual routes of the Springs excursionists, then in mountain by ways she enjoyed the luxury of leisure and dismounted now and then to delight in the green of the laurel and question the greed of the trooper in the Port Myer drill she had surreptitiously practiced in the meadow back of the Claiborne stables.

The soft was soft, and his horse carried him quite near before she heard him. A broad sheet of water flashed down the farther side of the narrow pass, sending up a pretty spurt of spray wherever it struck the jutting rock. As Shirley turned toward him he urged his horse over the springy turf.

"A pity to disturb the picture. Miss Claiborne! A thousand pardons! But I really wished to see whether the figure could come out of the canvas. Now that I have done it, make the tea, pray do not send me away!"

Her horse turned restlessly and brought her face to face with Chauvenet.

"Steady, Fanny! Don't come near her please!" This last to Chauvenet who had jumped down and put out his hand to her horse's bridle. She had the true horsewoman's pride in caring for herself and her eyes flashed angrily for a moment at Chauvenet's proffered aid. A man might open a door for her or pick up her handkerchief but to touch her horse was an altogether different business. The pretty graceful mare was calm in a moment and arched her neck contentedly under the stroke of Shirley's hand.

"Beautiful! The picture is even more perfect, mademoiselle!"

Fanny is best in action and spirit, did you see him run away. She hasn't run away today but I think she is likely to before I get home.

She was thinking of the long ride which she had no intention of taking in Chauvenet's company. He stood uncrossed beside her, holding his horse. But the danger, mademoiselle! You should not hazard your life with a run away horse on these roads. It is not fair to your friends."

"You are a conservative monsieur. I should be ashamed to have a run away in a city park but what does one come to the country for?"

"What, indeed, but for excitement? You are not of those tame young women across the sea who come out into the world from a convent frightened at all they see and whisper 'New life!' No sister, to everything they hear."

Yes we Americans are deficient in shyness and humility. I have often heard it remarked of Chauvenet:

"No no! You misunderstand! These deficiencies as you term them are delightful. They are what give the charm to the American woman. I hope you would not believe me capable of speaking in disparagement, mademoiselle. You must know—"

The water tumbled down the rock into the vale, the soft air was sweet with the scent of pines. An eagle cruised high against the blue overhead. Shirley's hand tightened on the reins, and Fanny lifted her head expectantly.

"You are a fair scholar!"

you mademoiselle, from the moment I first saw you in Florence. Here with only the mountains, the sky the wood I must speak. You must hear you must believe that I love you! I offer you my life my poor attainments."

"Monsieur you do me a great honor but I cannot listen. What you ask is impossible quite impossible. But, monsieur—"

Her eyes had fallen upon a thicket behind him, where something had stirred. She thought at first that it was an animal of some sort but she saw now quite distinctly a man's shabby felt hat that rose slowly until the broad face of its wearer was disclosed.

"Monsieur," cried Shirley in a low tone, look behind you and be careful what you say or do. Leave the man to me."

Chauvenet turned and faced a scowling mountaineer who held a rifle and drew it to his shoulder. Chauvenet threw out his arm, dropped then to his thighs and laughed carelessly.

"What is it, my dear fellow—my watch my purse, my horse?" he said in English.

"He wants none of those things," said Shirley, urging her horse a few steps toward the man. "The mountain people are not robbers. What can we do for you?" she asked pleasantly.

"You can't do nothing for me," drawled the man. "Go on away miss. I want to see this little fellow. I got a little business with him."

He is a foreigner—he knows little of our language. You will do best to let me stay," said Shirley.

She had not the remotest idea of what the man wanted but she had known the mountain folk from childhood and well understood that familiar idly with their ways and tact were necessary in dealing with them.

"Miss I have seen you before, and I reckon we ain't got no cause for trouble with you but this little fellow ain't no business up here. Them hotel people has their own places to ride and drive, but what's for them? The little fellow at night? Has he been looking for some un and I reckon saw how that some un ate me!"

He spoke drawlingly with a lazy good humor in his tones and Shirley's eyes took advantage of his deliberation to consider the situation from several points of view. Chauvenet stood looking from Shirley to the man and back again. He was by no means a coward and he did not in the least relish the thought of owing his safety to a woman. But the confidence with which Shirley addressed the man and her apparent familiarity with the peculiarities of the mountaineers impressed him. He spoke to her rapidly in French.

"Assure the man that I never heard of him before in my life—that the idea of seeking him ever occurred to me. The rifle a greater of the newest type was in the man's shoulder in a flash and the time I had pointed at Chauvenet's head.

"None of that! I tell you the American language all good enough for these 'ere mountaineers!"

Chauvenet shrugged his shoulders but he gave in to the man's will of the rifle unflinchingly.

The man was merely explaining that you are mistaken that he does not know you and next heard of you before and that he has not been looking for you in the mountains or anywhere else."

As Shirley spoke these words very slowly and distinctly she questioned for the first time Chauvenet's relation. Perhaps after all the mountaineer had a real cause of complaint. It seemed wholly unlikely that while she listened to the man's reply she was in an unpleasant position of the mountain, which cottage and hotel guests rarely explored. The mountaineer was saying:

"Mountaineers are slow and we don't know much but a stranger don't know through this hills more than on the first day. The second time he's got to tell why and the third time—well miss you kids tell the little fellow that the man is no thief!"

Chauvenet flushed, and he ejaculated:

"You are never seen here before in my life!"

The man dropped the rifle into his arm without taking his eyes from Chauvenet. He said succinctly but still with a drawl:

"You air a fair scholar!"

Chauvenet took a step forward, looked again into the barrel and stopped short. Fanny bowed by the prolonged interview but her neck and shoulders at a weed.

"This gentleman has been in America only a few weeks. You are certainly mistaken friend," said Shirley boldly. Then the color flushed into her face as an explanation of the mountaineer's interest in a stranger riding the hills occurred to her.

"My friend," she said, "I am Miss Claiborne. You may know my father's house down in the valley. We have been coming here for a long time and I can remember."

The mountaineer listened to her gravely and at last words in his hand. He looked at Shirley and said:

"I have no reason for mistaking you. This gentleman is not a runaway. He probably never heard of a girl so young as you. And his life in the valley is not so sweet. But if you will let him go I promise to satisfy you entirely in the matter."

Chauvenet started to speak but Shirley arrested him with a gesture and spoke again to the mountaineer in her most convincing tone.

"We are both mountaineers you and I, and we don't want any of our people to be carried off to jail. Isn't that so? Now let this gentleman ride away and I shall stay here until I have quite assured you that you are mistaken about him."

She signaled Chauvenet to mount, holding the mounted and reluctant mountaineer with a glance. Her heart was thumping fast and her hand shook a little as she tightened her grasp on the reins. She addressed Chauvenet in English in a mark of good faith to their captor.

Ride on, monsieur. Do not wait for me."

But it is growing dark. I cannot leave you alone, mademoiselle. You have lent me no great service when it is I who should have extricated you!"

"Pray do not mention it! It is a mere chance that I am able to help. I am perfectly a free to this gentleman."

The mountaineer took off his hat to Chauvenet. "Get out!"

Don't trouble about me in the least, M. Chauvenet, and Shirley affirmed the last word with a nod as Chauvenet jumped into his saddle and rode off. When the swift gallop of his horse had carried him out of sight and sound down the road, Shirley faced the mountaineer.

"What is your name?"

"Tom Selfridge."

"Whom did you tell that man to be Mr. Selfridge?" asked Shirley and in her eagerness she bent down above the mountaineer's head, leaning over the fence.

"The name you called him a nigger!"

"Is it a queer name? I never heard of it before—it is like the name 'nigger'."

"Is it a queer name?" asked Shirley quickly.

"That is it, miss! The postmaster over at Lamar told me to look out for him. He's moved up here and it ain't for no good. The word is out that a nigger man is looking for something or some body in these hills. And the man stays in—"

"Where?"

"At the hunter's club where folks don't go no more. I ain't seen him but he's about here. He's a little fellow, a stranger and got a little fella that's been a soldier in the army stay in with him. I thought you'd be his miss honest to God I did!"

The incident amused Shirley and she laughed loudly. She had undoubtedly gained information that Chauvenet had gone forth to seek, she had—and the thing was funny. She served Chauvenet well in explaining away his presence in the mountains and setting him out of the clutches of the mountaineer while at the same time she was earning for herself the fact of mounting, whereabouts and keeping, if from the mountaineer. It was a curious adventure and she gave her hand willingly to the mystified and still dozing mountaineer.

A Fable of the Future.

In 1920 A. D. the Stingiest Man in Stringtown carted his Household Goods to the Depot and bought a ticket for Millionville, the Metropolis.

"Why are you moving to Millionville?" Inquired a Citizen.

"To save postage," replied the Stingiest Man. Whereat the Citizen marveled mightily.

Now, be it known that the Stingiest Man in Stringtown was wise in his Day and Generation, for along back in 1907 A. Wherefore it came about that the Seven Stores in Stringtown Shut up Shop, one after the other, until along in 1919 A. ERRORS AND CARELESS PLAYING GIVE ANOTHER TO CHARLEROL.

Careless playing by the locals in the seventh inning of yesterday's game allowed the Rats to score two runs and clinch the contest. It was Connellsville all the way until the lucky inning, when Charleroi tied up the score on two errors and a hit. Connellsville played winning ball until the inning, easily outplaying the Wharf Rats. Olsen hitting gave them the lead in the early innings. Cotto for the locals pitched good ball in the opening innings, but toward the last of the contest let up and was hit hard. Arch Osborne was in great form for the Charlois and everything broke right for him. Four hits were the best the Cokers could do with him, but those four were placed just right for runs. "Sunny" Price was in left field for the Cokers and played great ball, notwithstanding his one error, which was a wild throw in an effort to make a double play. Several of his catches had bells on them. Blum was all over the field nabbing down hits while Montgomery made several good stops and throws. Sweeney caught a fine game behind the bat.

Birmingham started the run getting in the second inning. He led off with a cracking good triple to right center. Price poked a timely one through the infield, scoring the third baseman. In the fourth round the Cokers hung up another one. Blum worked the Charleroi manager for a dead head ticket and Birmingham sacrificed. Price was again Johnny on the spot and slammed a nice one to left field, scoring Blum.

Errors started the merry-go-round in the seventh for the Charlois. Dally hit an easy one for Montgomery, but Tiffany ran over and took it away from the manager and threw it to Cotto at first base, who muffed it. It was clearly an error of judgment on Tiffany's part. Houser hit a slow roller to Birmingham, who fell all over himself in an effort to get the ball. Uffner came on deck with a sacrifice, moving the runners up a peg. Osborne then, after two healthy swipes at the ball, slammed a nice one over Montgomery's head, both men on the circuit scoring. Nally and Cosgrove came back with infield hits, but Osborne was caught at the plate and Robb ended the disaster by flying out to Francis.

Clean hitting aided by errors gave Charleroi another run in the eighth. Heinz took first base on a pretty single and Dally did the same, sending Heinz to third. Houser hit one to Blum, who caught "Pickles" at the plate. Houser stole second and Uffner hit a liner to Price, who in an effort to make a double play, threw the ball over Blum's head, allowing Dally to cross the plate with the winning run. The score:

Baseball Babble.
Stung again in the same place. Charleroi had better donate this afternoon's contest.

Osborne may work his new man Tykell from Youngstown.

Heinz is a bad man to have up in a pinch.

In the opening innings Cotto was working nicely and the Cokers were backing him up in splendid style. The ballgame went up, however, in the same old way.

Ump McGarry murmured to himself when passing out of the gate with the fans yelling at him: "The umpire is a most unhappy man."

Osborne had Blum on his wagon. He fanned the shortstop three times. It would be a good idea to bring "Sunny" Price in at short and give Blum a much needed rest.

Sweeney caught the game in nice style, but the rest of the bunch were not there.

Neblager, the crack shortstop for the Onions, has been claimed by Fairmont, and, of course, President Younginger has ordered the Onions to report to "Reddy" Mack at once. Fairmont will soon have a winning team if they claim some more of the crack players in the league.

All of the Wharf Rats' runs were made on costly errors while Connellsville pushed two across the plate by clean hitting. There's a hoodoo somewhere.

"Sunny" Price was all to the merry yesterday. He played a nice game in the field while at the bat he fanned out of Connellsville's runs. It looks like Uniontown all the way in the pennant race, but Clarkburg is at their heels, and this week's series will probably decide the question. Clarkburg has about the best balanced team in the league. There are no bright stars on the Drummer team but all work well together.

Johnny Yocet played second base for the Onions yesterday, and, strange to say, he didn't have an error. He accepted three chances.

The locals have lines out in several of the eastern leagues for new players with which to give Connellsville a pennant winner.

The crowds have been steadily dwindling. Connellsville moved was worse than towards the last of the West Penn season. A first division team is the cry of the fans.

Connellsville is still in fifth place with quite a ways to go before the bottom. Only a few games separate the Cokers from the Fairmont "Babes."

A Wave of Blue From Ocean to Ocean.

Never Were Blue Serge Suits
So Popular With Men as Now

Mid-Summer heat has again placed blue serge suits on the high road of popularity. No fabric is so well adapted to hot weather conditions as serge. It is so woven as to present an attractive appearance and still give ready access to the outer air. The serges we offer are guaranteed by us to remain the dark, rich, blue that appeals to you at the time of purchase. The tailoring of these garments is of the highest order, insuring permanency of shape (a quality difficult to secure in serge). No matter where you may elect to spend the fourth, you'll find blue serge the dominant feature of men's apparel. The suits here advertised will compare most favorably with any you will see.

Everyone of these suits are guaranteed true blue and will not fade. Every size is here, cut in models most approved by carefully dressed men. The coats drape in long flowing lines, the trousers are ample through the hips, narrowing to 15 inches at the waist. Fitted with belt straps. We'll hemstitch busy in this department this week, so an early purchase is earnestly advised that alterations may be completed in time.
